DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-11 and 28-32, drawn to an energy absorbing device, classified in class 293, subclass 102.
 - II. Claims 12-27, drawn to a process of making, classified in class 264, subclass 51.
 - III. Claims 33-37, drawn to a method for constructing, classified in class 29, subclass 592.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. Inventions II and III and invention I are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case the product can be made by another and materially different process not involving heating or injection molding.
3. Inventions II and III are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions are not disclosed as capable of use together since invention II does not include limitations of an inserting or attaching step of the energy absorbing foam component with a bumper assembly (including in invention III). In addition, the inventions have different modes of operation, different functions, and different effects in that invention III includes the steps of inserting the energy absorbing foam component into a bumper assembly and attaching the bumper assembly onto a bumper beam thereby providing energy absorption for a bumper assembly whereas invention II fails to recite these steps for a bumper assembly.

Furthermore, it should be noted that a process including a Class 264 molding step, combined with a separate assembly step, which assembly, if claimed, per se, would be proper for Class 29, is classified in Class 29.

4. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

5. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Groups I, II or III is not required for the other Groups, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

6. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

7. A telephone call was made to Paul Keller on Thursday, April 29, 2004 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

8. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).

9. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Hilary Gutman whose telephone number is 703-305-0496.

If attempts to reach the examiner by telephone are unsuccessful, the examiner's supervisor, Glenn Dayoan can be reached on 703-308-3102. The fax phone number for the organization where this application or proceeding is assigned is 703-872-9306.
